

I have been an XM Satellite user for several years. I use it on two vehicles, not only around town, but as I travel across the country. Traffic and weather information is a very useful, particularly for safety reasons. It would be a shame for the profit motives of the major broadcasters to deprive the American consumers of these most worthwhile satellite services. Why not allow the free marketplace determine who can provide these services?

Please REJECT the National Association of Broadcasters petition 04-160.

Thank you for your consideration of this request.